Sonoma returned last week by air from Washington, D. C. where he was called to give expert opinion and advice on national defense.

Coming Vintage Festival Plans Were Discussed

Inspired by the natural beauty of the El Laurel Rancho, home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jorgensen in the foothills of Sonoma Valley, the 1948 Vintage Festival executive committee and directors met there Friday evening to plan the 1948 grape harvest program.

Director Jorgensen invited the group to gather around the recently completed swimming pool where facilities for outdoor entertaining and enjoyment are superb. The filtered pool, patio, gardens, open air fire-place, and the spacious bath house with its beautiful dressing rooms, are artistic and convenient. Designed by Jorgensen himself, a retired architect of note, the host has completed another delightful unit of this hospitable estate.

Friday night's moon, the tree shadows on the pool and a buffet supper served in the romantic garden were enjoyed by the Vintage Festival leaders, Mrs. Harriet Jones, program chairman; and J. P. Serres presided in the absence of Dr. Jones of Sonoma. Mrs. Betty Weiss, secretary, read the minutes.

Mrs. Jones outlined a colorful program for the two day festival, Sept. 25-26. Gordon Trevis reported progress in securing professional entertainers, mimics, musicians and singers of old California and Mexican songs.

The Wine Institute indicated willingness to aid in wine displays and publicity.

The horse and buggy parade, the children's parade, of which Mrs. Lois More is chairman, and the Spanish wedding with the bride coming to the old Mission on horseback, and R. R. Emparan impersonating his grandfather, General Vallejo, were topics under discussion. Shirley Woll is arranging the wedding and its entourage.

Tours to landmarks and old-fashioned homes of Sonoma Valley will be repeated and carried out as they were last year under Mrs. Polly Black's leadership.

There will be gay booths in the plaza, Mexican food, fortune-telling, an old timers home-coming day and window displays with nostalgic appeal.

Wine testing by the U. C. Agricultral department, a display of wine and grape products are also being discussed. Buena Vista ranch and the Sebastiani winery will welcome visitors at designated hours during the two-day festival.
